Welcome

Welcome to our Camden People First May 2023 newsletter.

There was a coronation for the new King and Queen on 6 May 2023 at Westminster Abbey. Prince Charles and Camilla became King and Queen of the United Kingdom.

People came from all over the world to see it. There were many parties everywhere to celebrate the coronation.

There were many bank holidays, so people were off work and had time to celebrate.

There were British flags all over the streets and shops to support the coronation. Some people also painted their faces and wore clothes with the British flag on it. Everyone was excited.

Everyone was able to watch the coronation with their friends and families at home on the TV or in the pub.

Any other news

The weather is getting better and it is getting warmer outside. You can wear a light coat outside but it is important to still check the weather in case it rains.

There have been new improvements in cars and busses. In some places like America, cars can drive you around by itself with no driver.

In Edinburgh, they have started to test out busses that can drive themselves around but a bus driver is there to make sure it is working properly.

Some people think the new improvements are dangerous and is “trying to take over the world”.

More news

Prince Harry and Meghan Markle were chased in a car by people who wanted to take pictures of them after the Women of Visions awards in New York, but no one was hurt.

Upcoming activities

Active for All have a fun day out for disabled people and their family.

There will be lots of different things to do for everyone to enjoy.

All children must have a responsible adult with them.

There are also different stalls where you can hear information about more opportunities and services available for disabled people in Camden.
